

LOOKING FOR LEADERS

Class of '22: Connect and Build Your Skills

This event is presented in collaboration by the George C. Marshall International Center (USA), the Freunde des GCMIC in Munich (Germany) and the George Marshall Society in Main-Taunus Kreis (Germany)

You are invited to experience the Five-Star Character Ethical Leadership Conference this September.

■ WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 2021 from 15:00 to 17:30 online workshop

About Our Conference

This new conference will leverage lessons from the life and example of George C. Marshall, whose life as a soldier and statesman serves as a positive and timeless model of effective ethical leadership and “five-star character.” Using examples from Marshall’s long career of service, participants will learn and apply these enduring lessons in a modern context.

Presenters

Pete Janhunen, West Point graduate, Pete served as an Army officer for eight years (including several deployments) before earning a master’s degree in public communications from Syracuse University on a fully funded University Fellowship.

Elizabeth Shannon joined the George C. Marshall International Center to help develop and promote its educational programs. Elizabeth also serves as a high school history and classical language teacher.

Marshall historian Rachel Yarnell Thompson, a former high school American history teacher and curriculum specialist, has for 22 years been a student of George C. Marshall at his museum home in Leesburg, Virginia
